

Hugh Lane Gallery – Image Rights & Reproductions – Copyright Policy

Hugh Lane Gallery is committed to providing access to our Collection to as many people as possible.

Via our Online Catalogue, you can search our rich and diverse collection of artworks, and are free to download low-resolution images for your own personal use and enjoyment.

We also have a selection of high-resolution images available that are suitable for print or online publication.

For all image-related queries and requests, please contact our Registrar (philip.roe@dublincity.ie).

Charges may apply, depending on usage (academic/commercial) and proposed print-run. There may be a fee if new high-res photography is required and can be arranged.

Credit

When reproducing any of our images, please use the credit-line:

Collection & image © Hugh Lane Gallery

For artworks still in copyright, you should also credit the artist, estate or their representative.

When we respond to image requests, we will provide you with the appropriate contact or credit-line to use. Please see more info below, about third-party copyright clearance.

Copyright Policy

All the images, text and content on this site are protected by copyright law.

The Hugh Lane Gallery actively develops agreements with copyright holders and other licensing agents for the artists in the collection. Whilst these agreements enable Hugh Lane Gallery to illustrate artworks, the permissions do not extend to any other party, unless specified.

Further reproduction of artworks, or any other images or content, made available by Hugh Lane Gallery may constitute an infringement of copyright. It is therefore your responsibility to investigate and obtain permission from copyright holders or their agents before publishing such content.

Copyright clearance

For all living artists – or those who died less than 70 years ago – there will be a separate copyright in the work itself (in addition to our copyright of the digital image file / photographic reproduction). This may entail a separate copyright charge due to the artist or artist's estate.

It is the client's responsibility to obtain permission from the copyright holder or their agent before a reproduction of any work or content is made, or this will constitute an infringement of copyright.

Two useful organisations that coordinate artists' copyright are IVARO and DACS:

IVARO (Irish Visual Artists Rights Organisation, in Dublin): www.ivaro.ie / +353 (0)1 963 1003 / licensing@ivaro.ie

DACS (Design and Artists Copyright Society, in London): www.dacs.org.uk / +00 44 (0)20 7780 7550 / licensing@dacs.org.uk

And DACS's list of sister societies, a network of rights management organisations, representing over 100,000 artists in over 34 countries:
<https://www.dacs.org.uk/about-us/sister-societies>

Intellectual Property

All copyright, trademarks, design rights, patents and other intellectual property rights (registered and unregistered) in and on www.hughlane.ie and all content (including all applications) located on the site shall remain vested in the Hugh Lane Gallery, Dublin, or its licensors (which includes other users).

No content may be permanently copied or reproduced whatever, including without limitation the extraction and/or storage in any retrieval system, or inclusion in any other computer programme, website or stored in or transmitted to or from any other electronic digital form either in whole or in part without the express permission of Hugh Lane Gallery, Dublin.

You may not copy, reproduce, republish, disassemble, decompile, reverse engineer, download, post, broadcast, transmit, make available to the public, or otherwise use hughlane.ie content in any way except for your own personal, non-commercial use. In certain prescribed circumstances, you may adapt, alter or create a derivative work from any hughlane.ie content for your own personal, non-commercial use, with the prior written permission of The Hugh Lane Gallery which will be indicated against the relevant hughlane.ie content.